1. A secret and partly underground airplane engine and munition factory is located near Jobbágyi. The factory is called the Andezit Works. Some of the installations are located in the near-by woods. Barbed wire, patrolled by heavy AVH contingents, surrounds the factory. All plant correspondence, even governmental directives, is censored by the AVH. The personnel were carefully chosen and most are reliable Communists. The worker here is more highly paid than the average industrial worker in Hungary.
2. More stringent security measures were introduced for the personnel in the Törökbalint munitions factory in July and August 1951. The factory manufactures all the usual types of munitions, which are packed in boxes, taken under heavy military and police guard to the Nagyteteny-Diósd railway station, and from there shipped to various military centers in Hungary.
